ENGLISH WRITTEN TEST

Read the following text carefully:

Is school cool?

LINDSAY, 13: What I really like about school is being with my friends during the breaks. But classes are fun and interesting too. For example, Music isn't difficult at all. I just don't like French so much because I don't understand it.

I'm very keen on sports too – I'm part of the school's basketball team. I started playing three years ago. Of course there are things I don't like. Some rules are very strict: we can't take our mobiles to school. I think we could take them to class if they were switched off.

STEVE, 12: Every morning when I wake up I feel bad, because I must go to school. Lessons are boring and I can't concentrate in class. My classmates are always talking. And some students call me names just because I'm very short. I also hate it when teachers give me lots of homework.

I never have lunch at school. It's a good thing that I don't have classes in the afternoon because the food is horrible.

ADAM, 14: The best thing about my school is our school library. There is an area where you can just sit and read quietly or do your homework.

I'm good at all of my subjects, except Physics. I never do well in it. My favourite subject is English. I like the songs we listen to in class. I have English on Mondays, Tuesdays and Fridays. I also love P.E. During the breaks I always go to the sports field to play football with my friends.

We must wear a school uniform every day. I think it's a good thing but most students don't like it very much.

The Seventh Tail

Story By: Andrew Frinkle

I am a Gumiho, which is a forest fox spirit. I was born without a tail, but through experiences and lessons learned, I have grown sixth of them! With each new tail I've grown, I have found I have new powers. I have started to become more human, and I am ever more curious about them.

I recently learned I had a voice. I said something for the first time to a young boy who was fishing. When I stole his fish, I said, "Sorry." This might not seem that important, but I was learning that I could look more and more human, and that I could think more and more like a human, and now I could TALK like a human.

I practiced speaking, copying the sounds that humans made. Some were strange and hard to make, partly because my mouth was shaped differently. I had to shape-change into an almost human form if I wanted to speak. A fox's mouth is not made for speaking English, you see. I spent long hours each day speaking to myself, singing, and walking about as a human.

In my time doing this, I also learned to make my own clothes from the forest. I fashioned dresses of grasses and wove garlands of flowers for my hair, which I'd learned to grow long like a human girl. I could still not pass as a human upon close inspection, but in the moonlight, when my powers were strongest, I could come close.

Speaking, I found, was a sort of magic in and of itself. I'd learned to associate meanings with sounds. Each sound painted a mental picture, and I learned what each set of sounds meant, especially when they were put together. I learned that actions had words, too. I quickly learned words like: run, go, eat, and climb. Much of this I learned by waiting in trees over the roads, so I could listen to conversations as people passed, or by hiding in the hedgerows or along the rice fields to overhear the chatter of farmers. Still, I longed to know more. I had a thirst for knowledge that was seemingly unquenchable.

If I loved speaking, I loved singing even more. Sometimes I sang just to hear my own voice. My voice changed depending on how human or how fox-like I was. My vulpine nature lent a certain wildness to my songs, throaty and full of barks and howls. My human side gave my songs a softer, more lilting quality, and I found that I loved to sing like a human more and more with each passing day. In fact, it was when I was singing that I had my next chance to speak to a human!

I sang as I ate, as I often did. I was working my way through a berry patch. Foxes are omnivorous, and if we like fish, chicken, and eggs, we also love nuts, seeds, and fruits. Berries are a sweet treat, and they are very seasonal, so when they are abundant, we eat a lot of them. Sometimes we have to compete with bears or other animals, but most animals in the forest left me alone – they sensed something different and human about me.

Nonfiction Reading Test

Chess

Directions: Read the following passage and answer the questions that follow. Refer to the text to check your answers when appropriate.

Chess is called the game of kings. It has been around for a long time. People have been playing it for over 500 years. Chess is based on an even older game from India. The chess we play today is from Europe.

White Chess Pieces

Chess is a two-player game. One player uses the white pieces. The other uses the black pieces. Each piece moves in a special way. One piece is called the king. Each player has one. The players take turns moving their pieces. If a player lands on a piece, he or she takes it. The game ends when a player loses his or her king. There are a few more rules, but those are the basics.

Some people think that chess is more than a game. They think that it makes the mind stronger. Good chess players use their brains. They take their time. They think about what will happen next. These skills are useful in life and in chess. Chess is kind of like a work out for the mind.

You don't always have lots of time to think when playing chess. There is a type of chess with short time limits. It's called blitz chess. In blitz chess, each player gets ten minutes to use for the whole game. Your clock runs during your turn. You hit the time clock after your move. This stops your clock. It also starts the other player's clock. If you run out of time, you lose. Games of blitz chess are fast-paced.

Chess is not just for people. Computers have been playing chess since the 1970s. At first they did not play well. They made mistakes. As time went on they grew stronger. In 1997, a computer beat the best player in the world for the first time. It was a computer called Deep Blue. Deep Blue was big. It took up a whole room. By 2006 a cell phone could beat the best players in the world. Chess sure has come a long way. Don't you think so?

Grade 7 Reading Comprehension Worksheet

Life on Other Planets

From Flight into Space
By J.N. Leonard

Read the passage. Then answer the questions.

When imaginative men turn their eyes toward space and wonder whether life exist in any part of it, they may cheer themselves by remembering that life need not resemble closely the life that exist on earth. Mars looks like the only planet where life like ours could exist and even this is doubtful. Even more interesting is the possibility that life on other planets may be in a more advanced stage of evolution. Present-day man is in a peculiar and probably fleeting stage. His individual units retain a strong sense of personality. They are in fact, still capable under favourable circumstances of leading individual lives. But man's societies already sufficiently developed to have enormously more power and effectiveness than the individuals have.

It is not likely that this transitional situation will continue very long on the evolutionary time scale. Fifty thousand years from now his societies may have become too close-knit that the individuals retain no sense of separate personality. Then little distinction will remain between the organic parts of the multiple organism and the inorganic parts (machines) that have been constructed by it. A million years further on and a million years is a tick of the clock on the evolutionary time scale man and his machines may have merged as closely as the muscles of the human body and the nerve cells that actuate them.

The explorers of space should be prepared for some such situations. If they arrive on a foreign planet when its living organisms are in an earlier stage of evolution, they may find the equivalent of dinosaurs or mollusks or even one-celled protozoa. They could live on very hot or very cold planets. They could breathe any atmosphere or none. They could build their bodies to any desirable size out of material plentiful in their planet's crust. They could get their energy from sunlight. Such creatures might be relics of a bygone age, many millions of years ago, when their planet was favourable to the origin of life, or they might be immigrants from a favoured planet.

Answer the questions.

1. What is the main idea of this passage?
2. Underline the five sentences that help you know the main idea.
3. What is the theme that the writer wants you to understand from this passage?
