Getting Into the Fossil Record

Name _____ Date _____

Directions: As you navigate through "Getting into the Fossil Record", keep your eyes open for answers to the following questions.

1. What are some of the questions that the fossil record can help scientists answer? List three.
2. Name five kinds of trace fossils. What makes trace fossils different from "body" fossils?
3. Quick burial is an important part of the fossilization process. Why?
4. Find the fossilized walnut. How did it become a fossil?
5. What are some different ways that an organism can become a fossil? (Describe two.)
6. What happened to the mammoth?
7. Why are the mouse and the jellyfish being compared?
8. Why is it difficult for an organism living in the rainforest to become a fossil?

The ³ were found under an airport under construction, big and fierce. They went extinct about 4,000 years ago. This is a rare find - a place where the North Atlantic mammoths found the South Colombian mammoths! Learn more on the Mammoth Site website. But 20,000 years ago, it was home to mammoths, brown wolves, saber-toothed cats and many other unusual animals. The scientists discovered two positions there that were six pA @s deep. Labrador jumped and knocked him down. This attracted mammoths, each of which had up to 330 pounds of plants every day. In October, the National Institute of Anthropology and ³ of Mexico @xico started digging in the area. Castillo thought he found a bone from a large dinosaur cage. Since then, the ³ have excavated the bones of 60 mammoths. &c ~ "In fact, it may have been part of your diary diet ~" says Sánchez Nava. The bones of a large, ³-rich animal have been found in ³. The Colombian mammoth ate the grass. 0 Ratingues0% Found this Helpful Document (0 votes) 696 Viewjes1 Page, Active 1. The main idea of the passage is that there are more bones hidden under the mud in California~mia. You can't see the ³ and the tar pit at the Page Museum in Los Angeles. Ancient animal This illustration shows what a mammoth may have looked like. culro / science Photo library / Getty Images Some of the bones were found on the margins of an ancient body of Water. On the new site, the mammoths probably died after getting stuck in the mud. Colombian mammoths were cousins of the wooly mammoths. Sinchez Nava says that it is possible that humans pursued animals in the soft land. Paleontologists continue to dig up the complete skeletons of mammoths on this site. 4. The detail that does not contribute to the main idea of this passage is: ³ of camels have been found in ³. The mammoth lived 10,000 to 40,000 years ago. They found several Colombian Colombians bones,including an almost complete mammoth, which they named Zed. They came to the lake to drink water and bathe, but could not leave the lake because the lake walls were too steep to climb. So far, nothing has been found that would require work at the airport to stop. They disappeared from the region that is now Mexico about 10,000 years ago. 2.Á Á Mamuteá TMamuteÁ huge and belonging to an animal called a mammoth.Á wooly and Columbian. They will continue to dig until 2022, when construction at the airport is completed. The bones of 14 animals were found in one of them. They were excavated by humans about 15,000 years ago. Archaeologists have been able to excavate about 10 mammoths per month since their work began. Scientists believe that hunters used the pits to trap mammoths. &cÁ Á Lots of, there are hundreds, &cÁ Á Á Á Nava Mammoths were huge elephant-like herbivores. These mammoths were trapped in a deep lagoon during the Ice Age. The large number of fossils indicates that prehistoric humans may have eaten mammoths regularly. 3.Áo When Castillo says "Because you hit me," his understanding came suddenly and powerfully.His wrong idea caused punishment. Elephant and sabertooth. People may have chased the animals in those traps. Roger Castillo has a type of dog called Labrador retriever. His bones were preserved in the tar and then unearthed by paleontologists.
